

Meredith Henderson

Meredith Henderson was named the Executive Secretary of the North Carolina Industrial Commission in February 2011. Meredith started out at the Industrial Commission as a Special Deputy Commissioner in the Executive Secretary's Office in 2005. In 2008, she went to work for Chair Pamela T. Young as law clerk and Counsel to the Chair.

Meredith received her B.A. degree from N.C. State University in 1993 and graduated from the University of North Carolina School of Law in 2002. After clerking for Chief Judge John C. Martin of the North Carolina Court of Appeals, Meredith practiced law in Raleigh, focusing primarily on workers' compensation and contract litigation, before joining the staff of the Industrial Commission.
